Evaluated seed lots

World Coffee Research (WCR) genetically evaluated these seed lots between 2020 and 2023 in the Latin American region. These sites were chosen because they are sources of seed in their communities, produce varieties that can be verified by DNA, and have homogenous lots. Of the lots sampled, those included in this list have 100% genetic purity for the sampled variety and have given their consent for their data to be published.

The molecular markers used were single nucleotide polymorphisms (SNPs) and the approved sampling protocol was used by the WCR team.
